

PRESS RELEASE

By welcoming PI Services, the multi-specialist group Coexya strengthens its infrastructure services activities and enables this new subsidiary to accelerate its development.

Lyon (France), January 30, 2024 – Coexya, an independent leader in digital integration, software editing, and consulting, concludes a strategic partnership with PI Services, specializing in consulting, integration, and operation of Microsoft Cloud private, public, and hybrid platforms.

Founded over 25 years ago, PI Services has firmly established itself with a clientele of major accounts by offering a comprehensive range of services, including consulting, integration of Microsoft Cloud infrastructures, and an operational offering for these infrastructures.

By joining forces with the Coexya group, PI Services aims to accelerate its development, industrialize its managed services, and provide a complementary and consistent offering for a significant portion of projects proposed by Coexya. This new alliance will also be an opportunity to strengthen the existing partnership with Microsoft.

For the Coexya group, this collaboration is part of its strategic plan for 2021-2025 by complementing its service offerings around Microsoft solutions. Henceforth, all aspects of Microsoft solutions are covered, providing the new group with the opportunity to present end-to-end solutions to its clients: consulting, design, and operation.

Coexya has been a Microsoft Solutions Partner – Microsoft Cloud since 2023 and has developed strong expertise in the editor's solutions as a Gold Partner since 2001. Currently, 150 employees work in France on these technologies, and the group already holds 70 advanced certifications across the entire Microsoft range.

With this partnership and thanks to continuous internal growth, the Coexya group surpasses the threshold of 100 million euros in revenue (109.5 million euros in 2023*).

Philippe Le Calvé, President of Coexya, expresses his satisfaction with this collaboration:

"This acquisition is a significant step in our growth strategy. We welcome the PI Services team with enthusiasm into the group. Their proven expertise in Microsoft platforms complements our service offering perfectly, reinforcing our position as a French leader in Microsoft services and enabling us to offer our clients an even more comprehensive and innovative solution."

Claude Petrucci, CEO of PI Services, adds:

"We are excited about our union with Coexya, a decisive step for our growth. This alliance strengthens our strategic partnership with Microsoft. The combination of our skills, from the development of business solutions to architecture and IT infrastructure management, enhances the client experience. While accelerating our development, we preserve our autonomy and remain true to our values of client proximity. Integrating a dynamic and innovative French group is a stimulating opportunity! United to create a promising future."
